More about the NSA's Tailored Access Operations Unit. Der Spiegel has a good article on the NSA's Tailored Access Operations unit: basically, its hackers. "Getting the ungettable" is the NSA's own description of its duties. "It is not about the quantity produced but the quality of intelligence that is important," one former TAO chief wrote, describing her work in a document.

I've seen analyses of the long odds the U.S. government would face if it ever attempted to confiscate civilian firearms before. The Mathematics of Countering Tyranny seems like a particularly well done example.. The authors compute that under very generous assumptions there are about 83000 door-knockers available to perform confiscation raids.
