Our knowledge of genetic variations has been so profoundly influenced by Mendelian genetics that it is difficult to speculate about the ways in which our thinking will need to change with further insights into genomics. We have far to go in teasing apart the multiple variables of complex traits and diseases, the relationships between hereditary, somatic and environmental factors, and in making ...

A genome sequence is the complete list of the nucleotides (A, C, G, and T for DNA genomes) that make up all the chromosomes of an individual or a species. Within a species, the vast majority of nucleotides are identical between individuals, but sequencing multiple individuals is necessary to understand the genetic diversity.

Neo-Darwinism can rebut this line of criticism in two ways: 1) almost any gene will work – a "many-worlds" theory of biology, or; 2) there is an easily-found mutational pathway, as Manfred Eigen described in 1987, leading from the first set of primitive genes to all of the genes subsequently used in biology. But, since 1987, Eigen's model has not been fleshed out.

Dominant white is a group of genetically related coat color conditions in the horse, best known for producing an all-white coat, but also for producing some forms of white spotting and white markings. Dominant white horses are born with unpigmented pink skin and white hair with dark eyes, although the amount of white hair or spotting can vary depending on which genetic mutation is involved.
