An isocyanide (also called isonitrile or carbylamine) is an organic compound with the functional group $\text{-N}\equiv\text{C}$. It is the isomer of the related cyanide ($\text{-C}\equiv\text{N}$), hence the prefix iso. The organic fragment is connected to the isocyanide group via the nitrogen atom, not via the carbon. They are used as building blocks for the synthesis of other compounds.

Diffusion is the net movement of molecules or atoms from a region of high concentration (or high chemical potential) to a region of low concentration (or low chemical potential) as a result of random motion of the molecules or atoms. Diffusion is driven by a gradient in chemical potential of the diffusing species. A gradient is the change in the value of a quantity e.g. concentration, pressure ...
