The instrumental temperature record provides the temperature of Earth's climate system from the historical network of in situ measurements of surface air temperatures and ocean surface temperatures. Data are collected at thousands of meteorological stations, buoys and ships around the globe. The longest-running temperature record is the Central England temperature data series, which starts in ...

People act all the time as if there are two kinds of rationality--reasoning about means and about ends. Sociologist Max Weber observed these two kinds of reasoning and gave them labels that have stuck, despite the fact that scholars keep coining new labels. Weber labeled reasoning about means instrumental rationality and reasoning about ends value rationality.
